MEMORIES

FOREWORD

The anticipated time has arrived — the time when we leave Marple-Newtown. It seems like an end, but it is not so in itself. The past years have served as a foundation upon which we develop; for each this foundation differs, but in this one evanescent moment — as we complete one phase of our lives in order to prepare for another — we seem as one.

This moment is one of the most important in our lives. Youth is regarded as the shining light of tomorrow. We are these very youths; at this time we are surrounded by opportunities for our futures. How we react to them is an individual matter. Whether we succeed or fail is important, but even more meaningful is the satisfaction which comes from an honest endeavor.

The executive officers of the club discuss the awarding of athletic blazers.

TO THE BOOSTERS CLUB

Mr. Meluskey, President of the Boosters Club, is responsible for organizing the club's projects.

In the latter part of 1955 and in the beginning of 1956, a small group of interested parents met and formed the nucleus of the present Marple-Newtown Boosters Club. As with any new organization the club was faced with adversity in the early years; but, by 1959 a formal constitution and by-laws had been formulated and the club really began the work it had set out to do.

The purposes of this organization are few, but nevertheless very important. The main function of the club is to support and encourage athletes and the entire athletic program at M.N. The members of this group are willing to give of their time in order to help Marple-Newtown grow, enlarge her reputation, and instill a sense of pride, accomplishment, and good sportsmanship in her athletes.

These aims are carried out primarily by the recognition of athletic achievement through a system of awards. A service award of a blazer is awarded to all students who have been on a team for three years and have earned a varsity letter; at the present time this includes a total of eight sports. Athletes who exemplify the standards of the late Mr. Rathy are given the Rathy Award, while an Outstanding Athletic Achievement Award is given to any athlete who distinguishes himself and his school in an especially outstanding manner. Championship teams are also recognized with special honors. Much of the club's support comes from the community during the annual "button drive." Proceeds from this drive help to provide the funds needed to maintain the award system. The club's activities for the year are climaxed by the annual All-Sports Banquet for our athletes.

This year marks the tenth year of service for the Boosters Club. It is fitting that we, the members of the Class of 1965, express in a small way, our gratitude and thanks for all that this organization has done for us.

Dr. William F. Nye, Principal of Marple-Newtown Senior High School, plays an important role in our high school education.

Donald R. Bagin, Intern Administrative Assistant, is M-N's P.R. man.

ESTABLISHING AND ENFORCING

Our most valued and satisfying experiences in life are generally recognized only in retrospect. There are few adults who do not wistfully reminisce of their school days. This yearbook is a pictorial annal of the important events and personages of the 1964-65 school year at Marple-Newtown Senior High. It is my hope that in years to come, it shall become a source-book of pleasant and treasured memories to the members of the class of 1965.

To you, the members of the class of 1965, I wish success and satisfaction in your chosen vocations and fulfillment of your life expectations.

William F. Nye

Marple-Newtown is a respected and well-known school system as a result of the efforts of Mr. Bagin. He makes sure the community is informed of the activities and progress of the school system by placing articles in the local newspapers. He interviews prospective teachers to assure Marple-Newtown of a high calibre of teaching.

This year Mr. Stephen Kachur has acted as Assistant Principal of the Senior High School. He records attendance and maintains control over student activities; he assists the Student Council and works with the guidance counselors in planning assembly programs for the benefit of the student body.

Members of the school board are: SEATED: W. Davis, F. Scherr, R. Raske (President), R. Gauntlett, R. Smith, and L. Sander; STANDING: Dr. K. Stover, J. Cerritelli, W. Culbertson, V. Nedurian, J. Muroff, R. Peterson, R. Molden, G. Zuspan; Not present: W. Rudloff.

THE POLICY OF THE SCHOOL

The Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Kermit M. Stover, has jurisdiction over all matters affecting the operation of the school system. He keeps himself well informed of educational policies and supervises the progress of instruction. Dr. Stover works closely with teachers and principals and with the Marple-Newtown Joint School Board.

The School Board determines the best course of action for the school system. It is composed of fourteen members who meet twice a month: once in their respective townships and once as a joint committee. The members keep the Marple-Newtown School System in pace with the communities it serves.

Dr. Kermit M. Stover, Superintendent of Schools, directs elementary and secondary education in Marple and Newtown Townships.

The secretaries of the General Office are Mrs. Edna Caro, Miss Elsie Scherr, and Mrs. Ann Roselli. They provide courteous service and keep the office functioning smoothly.

Teachers and parents, as well as the student body, depend on the services of the general office. The Senior High School office staff is composed of three secretaries and one guidance secretary. These women print and publish the daily bulletin and make announcements over the public address system. They compile attendance records, college transcripts, and graduation credits. They work closely with Dr. Nye in carrying out the school's policies.

The official business of the Marple-Newtown School System is handled by a clerical staff which is in charge of regulating and keeping records of all financial operations of the school district. The staff is responsible for purchasing all supplies and controlling cafeteria sales; it maintains accounts for purchases of equipment and for all student activities.

The Administrative Assistants for Elementary Instruction and Educational Services maintain the progressive spirit of the Marple-Newtown School System. Mr. Oselinsky, the Administrative Assistant for Elementary Instruction, has supervision over the instruction, curriculum planning, and course of study development within the elementary schools. He rates and makes recommendations on the placement, promotion, and transfer of teachers. His primary objective is to improve the method of instruction.

Mr. Brown, the Administrative Assistant for Educational Services, is directly responsible to the Superintendent of Schools. He controls all educational services with the exception of elementary education. He has supervision over child accounting, medical and dental services, school transportation, and Federal and state reports.

Staff members of the Administration Office are Miss Rosemary Mollure, Mrs. Edna Correll, Mrs. Gail Frazier, Mr. George W. Simon, and (SEATED) Julius J. Willa.

Mr. Stephen Oselinsky, Administrative Assistant for Elementary Instruction, and Mr. Frederick W. Brown, Administrative Assistant for Educational Services, discuss their mutual problems.

CLERICAL and COLLEGIATE

The high school years are years of hopes, plans, and decisions. The five guidance counselors, under the supervision of Mr. Dimmick, help to direct each student toward the fulfillment of his goals. With over 800 students in the Senior High, this department is a very busy and important one. Mrs. Grundberg and Mr. Grubbs are the Junior class counselors; Miss Speer and Mr. Owens are the Senior class counselors.

The counselors roster each student and contend with any related difficulties. They administer various vocational and achievement tests, and they test new students in order to place them in the proper group. They make the pupils aware of the varied opportunities available to them by arranging programs and films of particular interest to high school students.

The cafeteria staff prepares well-balanced meals each day for the students.

The cafeteria staff is composed of nine women, who work under the direction of Mr. Grimsley. This staff must plan a well-balanced menu for each day of the school year. They provide food not only for the students, teachers, and visiting officials who may observe our school in action, but also for all special school affairs. The more than 700 students who purchase some item from the cafeteria each day attest to the great job that these women do.

SCHOOL MOTHERS . . .

Mrs. Janice K. Mannino, school nurse, "hears" our troubles.

Mrs. Janice Mannino, the school nurse, has served at Marple-Newtown for seven years. Mrs. Mannino tends with devoted care to the many students who come to the medical suite each day. She aids the school in arranging medical programs such as the polio sugar cube distribution and the tuberculin tests. Mrs. Mannino is also the sponsor of the Future Nurses of America; she acquaints the club members with the nursing profession and encourages them to follow her career.

Marple-Newtown maintains its fine reputation by keeping the school building in order. The custodians, through their diligent efforts, render this necessary service to the school. They begin their work before the students arrive in the morning and continue long after each student has gone home. These dedicated men also work on Saturdays during the football season, and clean up after the dances and plays. Their service to Marple-Newtown is truly an invaluable one.

These are the school custodians during a rare moment when they have completed their work.

and SCHOOL FATHERS

The bus drivers are responsible for transporting over one-half of the Senior High School's student body safely to and from school. Many of the drivers make two or more trips in the morning and an equal number in the afternoon; still others transport students to sports events; some are also involved in cutting the grass of the district's schools. Neither rain, snow, sleet, nor hail deters these hearty mean from making their appointed rounds.

These faithful bus drivers provide safe transportation to and from school.

ACTIVITIES

As long as a man has something to do, he is likely to be happy.
— Roy Chapman Andrews

The offices of the Student Council are led by President Steve Stingle.

M-N'S JUNIOR

The Student Council was established to provide a means for students to express their ideas and to discuss them with the Administration. President Steve Stingle and faculty advisor Mrs. Egner, the 1964-65 Student Council upheld this objective. As vice-president Ann Ellis managed the school store. With Steve Weiss as treasurer, Barbara Smith as corresponding secretary, and Joe Hoplamazian as second vice-president, the Council ran an efficient school government.

The Council frequently acted as a host to representatives of various local high schools. This program gave the Council members a better insight into the workings of a school government and promoted new ideas for the improvement of the school.

Throughout the year the Student Council was busy conducting many school functions. In the fall it sponsored M-N's annual Charity Drive which brought in a record-winning collection. In March the Council put on the annual Talent Show. The Student Council members planned many assembly programs and all pep rallies. At the same time it was taking care of its administrative responsibilities, the Council found time to sponsor dances.

ADMINISTRATORS

Senior and junior council members cooperate to help our student government run smoothly.

Marple-Newtown Scott's Hi-Q Team competes in intellectual contests against other schools. (Missing – Doug McCready).

On November 7, 1964, four of Marple-Newtown's students were given the honor to appear on "It's Academic," a program for high school students conducted similarly to a college bowl. The students were screened from the top members of the class and selected at a sample contest given at the Board of Education Building in Philadelphia. The four students chosen were Janine Wallin, Walter Lapinsky, Dick Jeltsch, and captain Doug McCready. Karen Unerfusser and Dan Omohundro were chosen as alternate members. The participants also composed the Hi-Q team.

The team participated in three meets this year: the first, at Radnor, with Radnor, Penncrest; the second, at Springfield, with Springfield, Chester; the third, at Marple-Newtown, including Nether Providence and Yeadon. Questions on the Hi-Q Program, sponsored by the Scott Paper Company, are chosen from such topics as Current Events, U.S. Government and Economics, World History, Shakespeare, Science, Mathematics, Music, World Literature, Vocabularly, and American History. The programs are broadcast on the radio on the Sunday following each meet.

TIGER

Mrs. Michaelson is the faculty advisor of the Debate Team.

This year Marple-Newtown's Debate Team was given the opportunity to discuss the controversial topic of control of nuclear weapons by an international commission. Mrs. Michaelson coached the team; Mike Chern and Ken Wise were Co-captains. The first half of the year was devoted to practice debates among the team members. The two best teams were selected to participate in Temple University's annual forensic. Irv Abramson and Steve Davidon took part in a special debate session at Levitown, in which Marple-Newtown beat Ewing High School and lost to West Catholic. The team was also given the opportunity to compete in the forensic at Levitown, sponsored by the Pennsylvania High School Scholastic Speech League. Ken Wise and Mike Chern represented M-N on the affirmative side; Bruce Thompson and Wynn Schaible represented the negative. Each side won two debates and lost two. In addition the Debate Team competes in interscholastic debates with local high schools.

The National Honor Society recognizes outstanding scholastic achievements.

INTELLECT

The Marple-Newtown chapter of the National Honor Society gives recognition to students with outstanding academic records and enables these students to render service to their school. The annual induction ceremony takes place in March in a special assembly program. Each inductee receives his membership card and a gold key. A tea is held after school for the Society, faculty, and parents of the new members.

The acitivities of the Honor Society are directed by Mrs. Levin. Janine Wallin is the president. One of the most valuable functions performed by the members is the tutoring service, by which each member devotes one period a week to help a student in danger of failing. The Honor Society is also in charge of selling refreshments at home basketball games and wrestling matches. In June the members of the Honor Society hold a picnic to crown a year of service for Marple-Newtown.

The officers of the National Honor Society are Dan Omohundro, President Janine Wallin, Barry Make, Sue Dix, and Tom Meredith.

SCHOOL SCOOP

Marple-Newtown's aspiring journalists find a chance to cultivate their interest by working on the Mar-News. The newspaper is published ten times a year. This year the staff introduced the publication of four six-page issues; one at Christmas, one on April Fool's Day, one in May, and one at graduation. The student editors, Kathy Pagliara and Lyle Wolf, worked with the faculty sponsor Mr. Capriotti to make Mar-News a success.

The editors of Mar-News occasionally have an opportunity to interview a noted personality in the Philadelphia area. This year they were able to interview Julie Andrews and Wilfred Brambell, an English actor playing in Kelly. In addition to interviews, the editors sometimes attend private showings of movie premieres. These moments are rare; however, the editors and staff of Mar-News are usually busily working to collect a wide variety of articles so that the paper will be of interest to all members of the student body.

The production staff of the Mar-News works steadily to publish their paper once a month.

The Mar-News editorial staff meets with co-editors Lyle Wolf and Kathy Pagliara to discuss plans for the next issue.

The feature staff writes articles on school personalities.

The editorial staff, assisted by faculty advisor Mrs. Stevenson, writes original compositions for the Octagon.

Editor-in-chief Janine Wallin proofreads an article for the literary magazine.

LEARNING LANGUAGE

Art editor Jerry Kidd and his staff discuss cover designs for the next Octagon publication.

Although it is one of the lesser known of Marple-Newtown's publications, Octagon has been in existence for many years. The Senior High School's literary magazine gives qualified students an opportunity to express themselves through literature and art.

Janine Wallin, literary editor, and Jerry Kidd, art editor, work with Mrs. Stevenson to publish two editions of Octagon a year. Most material for the magazine is submitted by the English teachers from their classes. The members of the literary staff review each piece of work; they aim to maintain a high standard of literary expression. The staff members occasionally submit their own work for publication. Art work in the magazine consists of three or four full page drawings to illustrate the stories, as well as the front and back cover designs.

The staff of Wide World is composed of students who study various foreign languages.

THROUGH LITERATURE

Wide World, Marple-Newtown's foreign language newspaper, is a new concept in literary projects. It provides ambitious students with the opportunity to express themselves in the foreign language they study and acquaint themselves with other languages. The newspaper is prepared by a staff of students with the help of Mrs. Woerner and Dr. Colli. The staff has three editors: Margery Garbeil, French Editor; Cheryl McCrary, Spanish Editor; and Eva Reinersmann, German Editor.

A composite of articles written in various tongues, Wide World endeavors to be of interest to all language students. Articles inform the reader of current events at home and abroad, customs of the world, and school activities, while puzzles arouse curiosity and stimulate interest. No translations are included in the paper, but any Wide World staff member will help the reader to interpret an article.

Editors of the foreign language newspaper (Eva Reinersmann, Cheryl McCrary, and Margery Garbeil) survey incoming articles.

Business committee chairman George Chamberlain advises Neil Townsend on Pub-Pac sales.

Carolyn Walsh, Captions Editor, and staff Rita Kristinich and Sandy Herschel create captions for each picture that appears in Memories '65.

Sports editors Ted Adler and Karen Smith examine incoming photographs.

CAPTIONS

Co-editors Barry Make and Jane Chidester consult their faculty advisor Mr. Capriotti.

Memories' typists, Ruth Smith, Betsy Williams, and Barb Kinsey, prepare copy for coming deadlines.

Lynne Ankrum, Senior Portrait and Tintype Editor, prepares the Senior section of Memories '65 with the help of her staff.

AND COPY

At the end of their Junior year a group of interested students met with Mr. Capriotti, faculty advisor of Memories, to discuss the yearbook for the Class of '65. The co-editors chosen were Jane Chidester and Barry Make.

Before the staff could begin to work on the contents of the book, anmy decisions had to be made regarding the cover, theme, and type of print to be used. Once these items were settled, the staff began work on the material within the book itself. The staff had four deadlines to meet. One of the greatest tasks was taking care of the Senior Portraits; this was handled by Lynne Ankrum. Layouts were done by Dan Omohundro, copy by Karen Rossman, and captions and headlines by Carolyn Walsh. Realizing that a yearbook should be a composite of one's activities in high school, the staff endeavored to give due representation to all facets of Marple-Newton in this volume of Memories.

Interact, sponsored by Mr. Henwood, serves the school, community, and nation.

AT YOUR

Interact is an organization sponsored by the Rotary Club for the purpose of encouraging student leadership and fostering understanding on the community, national, and international levels. Interact members assist with tutoring students and with parking cars and ushering at various school functions. On the community level plans are being made to purchase books for the Marple Library. The main project of the organization is the support of a Chinese orphan in Hong Kong.

Twelve students participate in the Marple-Newtown's library aid program. The aids assist the two librarians by shelving books, filing pamphlets, and working at the main circulation desk. The aids may be found in the library before and after school and during lunch and study periods. These dedicated students, who are often overlooked, perform a much needed and valuable service to the school.

The Stage Crew is largely responsible for the success of the theatrical productions at Marple-Newton. Ted Lee is student manager of the club, and Mr. Enck is the faculty director. The crew performs such jobs as arranging scenery and adjusting lighting. Although the stage crew's work is done behind the scenes, it is of great value to the school.

Mr. Enck speaks with members of the stage crew concerning the painting of a flat for the Senior Play.

SERVICE

The Visual Aids Club is one of Marple-Newtown's little known, but greatly appreciated, service organizations.

The members hold no formal meetings but rather assist Mr. Sanelli in setting up projectors, acting as projectionists for assemblies, making minor repairs on visual aid equipment, and helping teachers when requested. All work is done before and after school; club members lose very little class time in performing their important duties.

Edmund Higgins and Terry Brown watch as Eric Mendelzon, president of the Visual Aids Club, threads the projector.

Chess is an old and inspiring game requiring much practice and deep concentration. A group of Marple-Newtown students, largely on their own initiative, formed a Chess Club out of their common interest in the game. The ten members, with Franklin Morrison as their president, play interscholastically.

The Political Science Club is the newest addition to Marple-Newtown's wide variety of organizations. Under the supervision of Mrs. Shaber, the club provides informal discussion sessions for students who are interested in current affairs and the study of political science. The sessions are conducted without the use of parliamentary procedure to enable the members to participate in the discussion at any time they so desire.

COLLECTING

Dick Turpin prepares to demonstrate an experiment for the Science Club.

The officers of the Science Club are Dick Turpin (Pres.), Michael Chern (V. Pres.), Jeff Kleinman (Sec.), and Ken Leider (Treas.).

INTELLECT

The members of the Science Club meet with Mr. Billett every other Wednesday. The club tries to obtain noted authorities to lecture on topics of interest to the members such as lacer beams and biochemistry. The club organizes field trips, a major one being the excursion to the Valley Forge Space Technology Center. The members of the Science Club get an opportunity to actively participate and probe into a problem by performing individual demonstrations.

Marple-Newtown's Math Club meets every other Monday with Mr. Weiner as its sponsor. The purpose of the club is to satisfy the members' interest and curiosity in the fields of higher mathematics. This year a popular topic was computers.

Mr. Weiner sponsors the Math Club for interested students.

Barb Smith (Sec.), Miko Himuro (M-N Foreign Exchange student from Japan), Lynne Jacobs (Pres.), Norma Shifrin (Parl.), Dan Omohundro (Treas.), and Karen Rossman (V. Pres.) are this year's leaders of the A.F.S.

The American Field Service stimulates understanding of foreign countries.

INTEREST

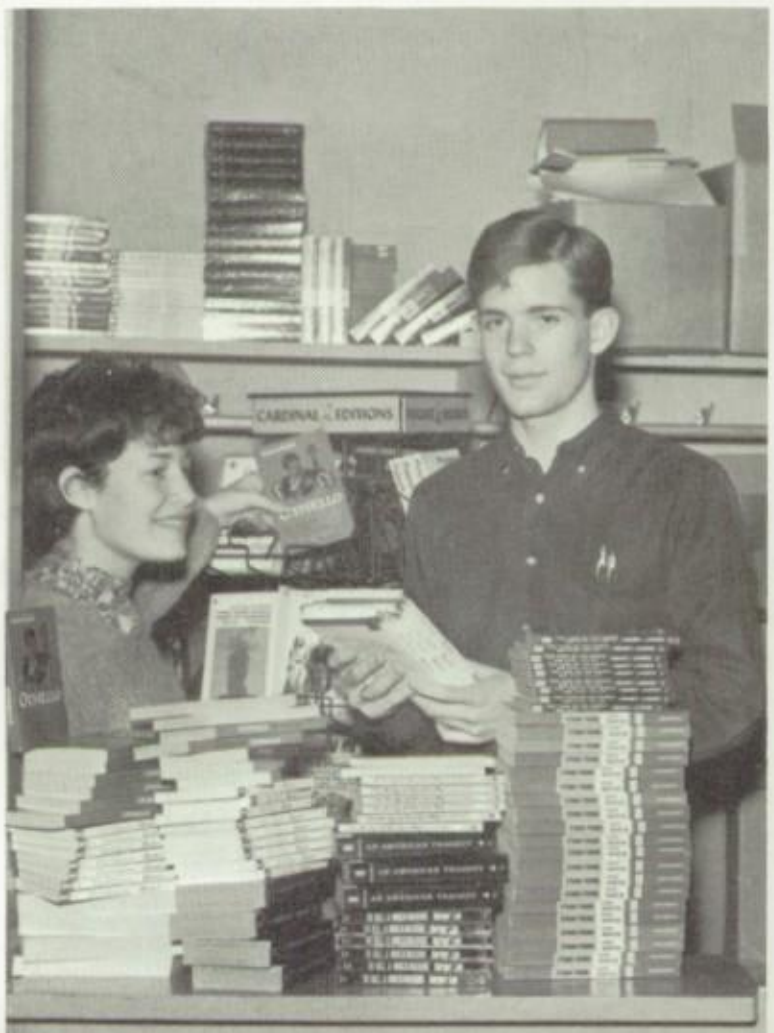
Norma Shifrin and Renny Brown take their turn as salesmen in the A.F.S. Bookstore.



The American Field Service was established to promote better international friendship and understanding among high school students. It tries to accomplish its ideal through a student exchange program with foreign countries. Marple-Newtown was honored to receive this year Minaka Himuro from Kobe, Japan. Minaka, or Miko, as she is frequently called by her friends, attended Kobe College Senior High School.

The actual sponsor of the exchange program is the local adult chapter of the AFS. The student chapter aids the adult chapter by conducting several fund-raising projects; it runs dances and bake sales and manages the paperback bookstore. In September the AFS members welcomed the student body back to school with a successful "Get Acquainted" dance; at the end of the year the members invited the exchange students of local high schools to participate in an assembly at Marple-Newtown.

ABROAD

Miss Lucci explains her idea in español to members of the Spanish Club.

One of the most interesting aspects of learning a language is an acquaintance with the historical and cultural background of the people who speak that language. When a student can feel that he is beginning to understand a nation and its people, he is then able to compare the similarities and differences between his own way of life and that of the nation from which he was formerly separated by a language and cultural barrier.

Marple-Newtown has organized three language clubs for the purpose of acquainting interested students with the ideas and heritage and certain cultures. The clubs show films and listen to guest speakers in order to deepen their understanding of the language. The French Club is under the direction of Mrs. Woerner; the German Club, Miss Hamburger; and the Spanish Club, Miss Lucci.

CHARACTERS AND

Pleiades, Marple-Newtown's drama club, was established to promote an interest in theater and to acquaint students with the production as well as the performing aspects of the arts. The members elected Len Morris as President; Mr. Enck is the faculty sponsor. The Pleiades members assisted with both the Junior and Senior Class productions. The club members presented their own production of a one act play entitled "How to Propose." This was given in an assembly on January 22. Pleiades members were afforded the opportunity to partake of the cultural advantages in the area. They made several trips to see stage productions to enrich and develop their understanding of the theater.

Mr. Enck advises the executive council of Pleiades: Len Morris, Pres.; Wally Roberts, V. Pres.; Karen Green, Sec.; Edd Fisher, Treas.

The officers of the Art Club are Gloria Keleshian, V. Pres.; Leah Brimble, Pres.; Nina Schiller, Sec.; and Chuck Codman, Treas.

Members of the Art Club create posters for school functions.

Man has always enjoyed art as a relaxing means of self-expression, and Marple-Newtown's students are no exception. Under the supervision of Mrs. Morton, the Art Club enables students with creative ability and interest to exercise and develop their talents. The club is responsible for much of the artwork and decorative material around the school, such as the showcase, lobby displays, and bulletin boards. The club is also responsible for the posters throughout the school during election campaigns and various drives. When they are not busy fulfilling the needs of the school, the art club members concentrate on projects of their own interest.

PREPARING FOR THE

The Distributive Education Club at Marple-Newtown Senior High School aims to develop future leaders in the fields of marketing and distribution. Under its faculty advisor, Mr. Philip Robinson, the Club identifies itself with a program of youth activity relating to the Distributive Education program. The purposes of the D E Club are to increase vocational understanding, encourage civic consciousness and social intelligence, and develop leadership qualities of the members.

The club's activities of the past year included a Thanksgiving Charity project, a dance at Paxon Hollow, and the Second Annual Employer-Employee Banquet. The club also was able to obtain a series of guest speakers who spoke to the class as trade specialists. Members of the club received the Sears Roebuck Foundation award for the Outstanding DE Student and the Lawrence Park Businessmen's Association Award to a boy and a girl who showed excellence in Distributive Education.

The Future Business Leaders of America is a national organization for students enrolled in business subjects. It is designed particularly for students who anticipate careers in business. These future leaders can have an opportunity to take part in projects conducted by representatives of education, business, and the professions. One of its chief objectives is to develop strong, aggressive leadership so that they may participate more effectively in the business and community life of which they are to become a part. The program of F.B.L.A. aims to develop character, good citizenship, and patriotism by bringing the interest of students together with national and local problems. The organization tries to create more interest and understanding in the intelligent choice of business occupations; it encourages members in the development of individual projects and in establishing themselves in business.

The members of Marple-Newtown's F.B.L.A. chapter strive to uphold the organization's objectives. The girls take credit for selling refreshments at football games and typing for the business office.

This year's F.B.L.A. officers are: Joyce Armstrong, Parl.; Jo-Anne Terranova, Pres.; Anita Zalimas, V. Pres.; and Cindy Jarrell, Treas.

Girls interested in home economics find in the Future Homemakers of America Club an opportunity to gain knowledge in various fields of domestic importance. The club is directed by the home economics teacher, Miss Fuoco. The members participate in many civic activities, doing volunteer work for various organizations; they address envelopes and collect funds in the annual Multiple-Sclerosis campaign. At Christmas time the Future Homemakers sponsor a party for the faculty. They usher at all the Senior High School plays and are in charge of the bulletin board in the lobby. These future homemakers are getting a varied and valuable background for their future careers.

The Future Nurses of America receive a first-hand insight into their prospective careers from their sponsor, Mrs. Manino, the school nurse. The girls learn various nursing techniques by assisting in the tuberculin program and visiting local convalescent homes and orphanages. Guest speakers acquaint the club members with many aspects of the nursing profession.

The Future Teachers of America Club, under the direction of Miss Kohlhepp and Mrs. Hill, tries to provide its members with a chance to participate in activities which will give them a greater knowledge of their future career. The members occasionally hear lectures given by guest speakers, visit local colleges, and observe the methods of teaching in local elementary schools. This year the club set up a scholarship to be awarded to an outstanding senior member.

MINTS TO

Tri-Hi-Y is one of the few of Marple-Newtown's service organizations in which membership is selective. Marple-Newtown's chapter is affiliated with the Community Y of Eastern Delaware County. Under the leadership of Mrs. Nester, the club aims to promote Christian understanding throughout the schools and community. Each year the members sell mints for the YWCA World Service. Any profits the Tri-Hi-Y may make go to the support of a Korean orphan named Kim. At Christmas the girls gave a party at Don Guanella School.

An essential yet decorative element to Marple-Newtown's football games and pep rallies is the band front, comprised of the majorettes and color guard. Much practice goes into the intricate routines, with Mr. Enck in charge. The girls of the band front drill for the entire year, although the main part of their performing ends after football season. The practice keeps them in shape to participate in community activities and readies them for the next season.

The officers of Tri-Hi-Y are: Cindy MacFadden (2nd Treas.), Sue Dix (V. Pres.), Carolyn Walsh (Pres.), Carolyn Compton (Chaplain), Chris Vogel (Sec.), and Carol Dickinson (1st Treas.).

After the football season the band continues to practice as a concert band; the members play in the festive Christmas concert and in the annual spring concert. A pep band plays at all home basketball games.

In addition to performing at school functions, the band members participate in local events, such as the Memorial Day and Fourth of July parades. Special summer concerts are held, and in August a week at band camp gets the band ready to return to school.

Besides performing at school assemblies during the year, the choir gives concerts for various out-of-school organizations which request them.

EXCEL

The Marple-Newtown football team continued its winning ways this season with an overall record of six wins, two losses, and a tie. Captained by George Allen and John Meluskey, the Tigers finished second in tough Suburban One with a record of five wins, one loss, and a tie. The team was also named fourth among Delaware County schools.

Marple-Newtown was upset in the season opener at Penncrest by a fourteen to eight count. The Tigers, however, seemed to jell after their next game — when they did not lose again until they met highly-touted Lower Merion, Suburban One title-holders.

In the second league game of the season, the Tigers journeyed to Upper Darby to meet the Royals. After starting the game rather slowly, Marple-Newtown finally started to march on a sharp Upper Darby defense. The clock, however, did what Upper Darby could not do and Marple-Newtown was stopped inside the Upper Darby ten yard line. With the wind in their faces, the Tigers finally scored, but the extra point was missed. The outcome was a somewhat disappointing six-six tie.

The Tigers rolled over Chester, Abington, Haverford, and Cheltenham. The biggest game of the year for the Bondermen took place on November 7 on Harry R. Harvey Field with Lower Merion. Lower Merion jumped to a twenty to nothing lead at the half, but the Tigers were far from finished. With Jon Moffitt ripping off several large gains, Marple-Newtown scored two quick touchdowns. Had a controversial interception on the Lower Merion goal line been called the other way, Marple would have overhauled the Aces. As it turned out, Lower Merion scored again, and the game was out of reach.

TOUCHDOWN

On November 26, however, Marple-Newtown came back strong after a two week lay off to take on traditional rival Springfield. Led by All-Delco quarterback, Jeff Petrie, the Cougars had a fine season in tough Suburban Two. Springfield scored first on a muddy, overcast day, but the Tigers came back strong on two long runs by Glenn Boens. In the second half Marple-Newtown scored two quick touchdowns to go ahead by a twenty to six count. Coach Bonder had done fabulous things with the Tigers at half time in tough ball games, and this was no exception. Marple-Newtown totally dominated the second half, and with little more than thirty seconds remaining, the Tigers led twenty-six to six. The Cougars scored on the last play of the game, and the final score was twenty-six to thirteen.

Marple-Newtown's football team did extremely well in the past three years with a nineteen win, six loss, and two tie record. The Bondermen finished first, second, and third in the three years. This year Marple-Newtown scored the most points (204) and gave up the least points (45) in Suburban One. A tribute should be paid to Coach Lou Bonder and all the football players for their fine achievements.

The Marple-Newtown Soccer Team started out with what promised to be a very successful season, but some bad breaks turned it into a disappointing year. There were, however, some bright spots. Led by All-Suburban fullback Neil Townsend and high scorer Bruce Hunter, the Tigers pulled off some surprises. # DRIBBLE

Although the Tigerettes did not have a very successful season, they acquired greater skill and gained real team spirit. With two fine co-captains, Carol Dickinson and Nancy Cox, the varsity girls drove hard and fought well. At the close of the season they had a 1-6-1 record, with Dorothea Compton as high scorer with two goals. The J.V., with a record of 1-5-2, shows much promise for the coming year, and it is hoped that they will incorporate the newly-found spirit of the 1965 Tigerettes in leading their team on to victory.

Next fall, with the completion of the new addition, the Tigerettes will be driving and dribbling with spirit on a new hockey field. The future for M-N's hockey team looks much smoother and brighter.

TIME AND

M-N "road runners" round a bend in their course.

The Harriers, coached by Mr. Earl Shores and captained by Doug McCready, finished the season with a commendable five wins and five losses. Depending largely on first-year boys, the team worked hard against opponents made up of many four-year men.

In the opening meet of the season, the team firmly established itself as a power to be reckoned with, solidly defeating Lower Merion. Two of the team's losses were real heartbreakers — they lost to Penncrest by one point and to Upper Darby by two. With a change of luck, these two losses could have been victories.

Although Mr. Shores anticipated a fine season, the team was hindered by injuries and lack of a home course. Many of this year's team members were also young and inexperienced. The team gained a great deal of maturity throughout the season. With their top runner George Seltzer returning next year, and many freshmen and sophomores with a year's experience under their belts, next year's team should bring back M.N.'s Cross-Country supremacy.

Members of the cross-country team and their coach Mr. Shores rest before a meet.

AND DRIVE

The basketball team, coached by Mr. Watson, suffered through a long, difficult season. Their final record was 3 wins and 17 losses; however, the record failed to show the drive and determination exhibited by the M.N. dribblers.

Being outclassed by size in Section 1, the team was consistently beaten in rebounding and scoring. Nevertheless, the team managed to put up a tough battle against these overwhelming odds. Some of our competitors, such as Norristown and Chester, were victorious over the best teams in the state of Pennsylvania.

The team was handicapped by having only three seniors, Jim Dulaney, Jim Standen, and Dan Rudloff, return from last year's squad. Another senior, Randy Felton, who came to Marple-Newtown just this year, also contributed signficantly to the team. The situation was so bad, that many times, Mr. Watson, in desperation, had to play inexperienced sophomores against the many All-Suburban and All-State players. The basketball games, however, were well attended this year. The Tigers had the support of enthusiastic fans.

If the present sophomores and juniors can work up to their potential and if the student support continues, the future outlook of M.N.'s basketball team has to be hopeful.

The 1965 girls' basketball team has not had an outstanding record – instead they spent the season training new players for what should be a tremendous season next year. The girls began their games with a scrimmage in which they defeated West Chester and ended their season with a crowning victory of 35-19 over Upper Merion. Co-captains Barbara Blair and Sue Rich did a great job in developing spirit and determination, and various signs could be seen throughout the locker rooms encouraging the girls on to victory. Under the direction of the coaches Miss Groff and Miss Kiesel, the team became more proficient, and as a result of this year of preparation and spirit, M-Ners have become more interested in the roving Tigers' female counterparts. Next year should be a top year for these girls with the completion of the new school wing and even more new players on which to found their fast-improving team.

Marple-Newtown's wrestling team suffered its first losing season since the arrival of coach Jim Jones four years ago. After looking very strong in a 37-16 victory over West Chester in the first meet of the year, the team had great difficulty in getting enough individual victories to provide a team triumph for the remainder of the season. The most pleasant surprise was the acquisition of the Groening brothers, Bill and Rick, from Lewistown High School. Rich could usually be counted on to provide a win, and Bill quickly made a reputation for himself as a fine wrestler and was the only undefeated member of the team. Jim Kachur finally reached the potential of which everyone knew he was capable. Steve Weiss moved up one weight class and found the going rough.

Even though the wrestlers had an unspectacular 4-7 record, at times it looked brilliant. Throughout the last month of the season numerous injuries and sickness greatly weakened the team. The apex of the year came at the mid-season Lansdown-Aldan Tournament when the M-N grapplers upset seven other schools, including Suburban I team champion Upper Merion and Suburban II team co-champion Ridley Township.

Swimming is by far one of M-N's best competitive sports — in both skill and scoring, and 1965 showed M-N's girls living up to this great reputation. M-N's mermaids are on their way to swimming off with the Suburban I District Championship for 1965. They had carried home the district honors from Cheltenham in 1962 and 1963, but last year they lost the title to Abington by one second in the final timing.

This year the Varsity swimmers have had another undefeated season, and the J.V. lost only one meet. The girls won the majority of the meets with great ease, until the end of the season when two strong teams, Upper Merion and Plymouth-Whitemarsh, presented the most challenging competition of the year. Many of M-N's swimmers participated competitively outside the school, and among these are the two experienced Senior Co-Captains, K. Hutton and P. Fleming. They have worked along with the new coach, Mrs. M. Myers, in helping to build greater spirit and skill. These girls have lost only one meet in the past three years, and with the extra practice afforded by their own, new pool next year, they should be even better — leaders of the league for years to come.

The boys' swimming team, coached by Mr. Shearn, maintained better than a .500 average.

The Tigers' swimming team splashed to another winning season this year, chalking up a 5-4 record. The 1965 season was their third straight in the winning column. The boys beat teams from Haverford, Lower Merion, Eddystone, Upper Darby, and Norristown. Losses went to strong squads from Abington, Cheltenham, Upper Merion, and Plymouth-Whitemarsh. This year's team had a few standouts who were successful past the regular dual meet schedule. Barry Kerr and backstroker Bill Dorney did well in the state meet; breaststroker Rick Peoples made a good showing at the Districts.

The team was at a disadvantage this year since they only could practice two days each week. All of the teams that beat them have their own pools. The squad, nevertheless, made good use of their limited pool time with Coach Shearn's workouts. Co-Captains Barry Kerr and John Reilly foresee much improvement in the next few years with the addition of the new pool.

LET IT

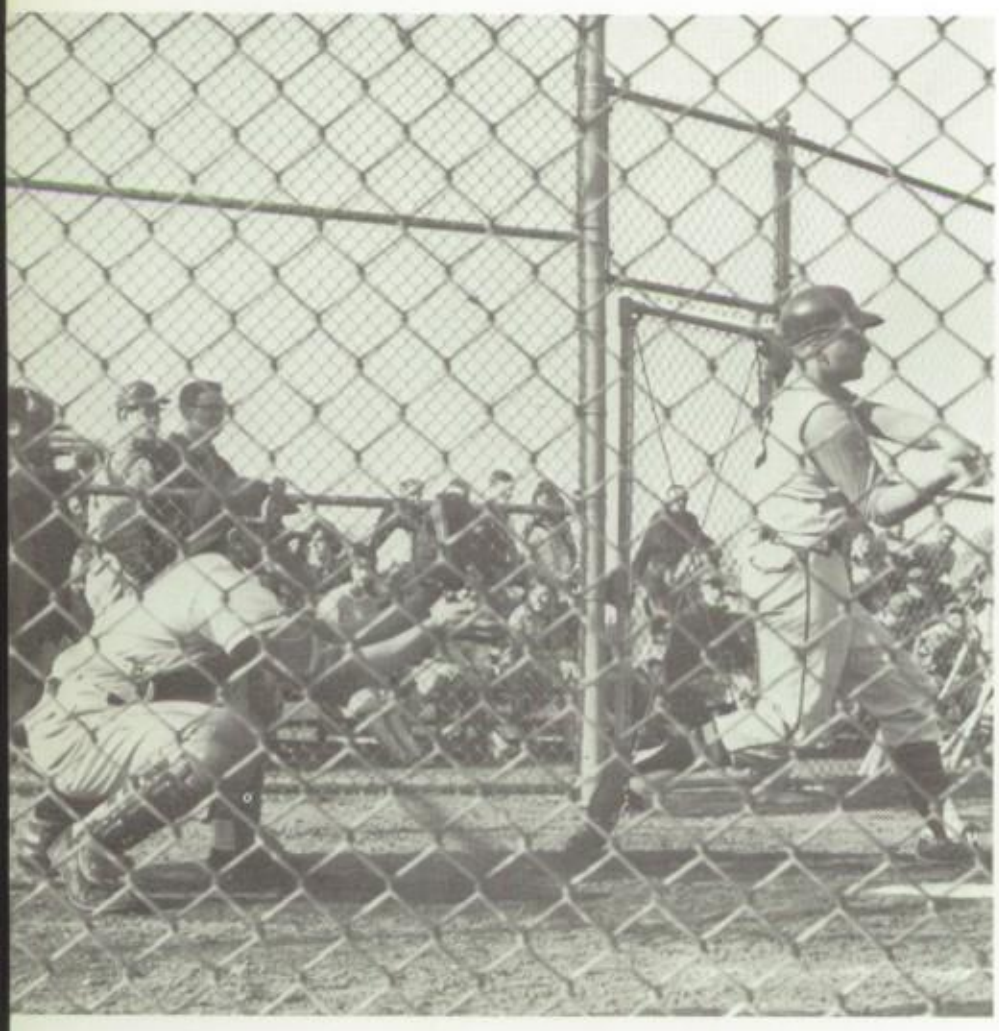
Senior Steve Stingle swings at an incoming fast ball.



Looking forward to a much improved squad, the M.N. baseball team optimistically began the '65 season. With the return of almost all of last year's team and the promising talent coming from the sophomores and juniors, they had a better than average showing. Experience has improved the consistency of the team's ball playing. Practice strengthened the hitting power of the players and their fielding techniques were greatly improved. The boys have gained experience in working under pressure. Every player had determination to be successful.

Last year's biggest problem was pitching. They lacked consistency in the quality of pitching, and our hurlers found it difficult to work under the pressure the close games forced on them. This year the boys have tried to overcome this, although pitching was still a problem. With a much improved team behind them, the Tigers had the spark to give them a fighting season.

The Marple-Newtown Senior High School Track Team has had to cope with the disadvantage of the lack of a practice field. The construction of the new building has interfered with track practice at the Senior High; the squad had to travel daily to Paxon Hollow. Jon Moffitt and George Allen have consistently turned in good performances; George threw the javelin and participated in the pole vault, and Jon was the teams top sprinter. However, a number of the other members of the squad also aided in the success of the season. They were: milers Walt Lapinsky and George Seltzer, discus thrower John Benner, shot putter Ron Hatcher, hurdler Bill Hoffman and sprinter Brad Jones. It is interesting to note that Seniors formed the basis of the Junior High District Champions of three years ago and have continued to perform well. Competition was rough in the Suburban I league. Such perennial track names as Abington and Lower Merion have had to put up a real fight to cope with Marple-Newtown.

The boys' varsity tennis team has many promising juniors.

RACQUET

M-N's girls' tennis team was hindered this season by the fact that the senior high school could not use the tennis courts because of the construction work. The girls used the courts at Paxon Hollow, practicing under their coach, Mr. Grubbs. The team players were selected on the basis of play-offs in the beginning of the season. Rita Kristinich was made captain of the team. Three varsity single players, Rita Kristinich, Janine Wallin, and Nancy Massologetes, and two sets of doubles comprise the team. There is no formal tennis league, but M-N played about nine matches with local high schools.

Like the other teams at Marple-Newtown this year, the tennis team was hindered by having to go to Paxon-Hollow for practice. This added burden only further hindered the relatively inexperienced squad. This year there were two returning letter-men, Eddie Alfano and John Ralf, both juniors. These two, plus senior Joost Romeau and juniors Ed Fisher, James Buscher and Jeff Peters constituted the team. It is hoped that the experience provided by this difficult season and the addition of new courts and equipment will provide the added impetus for the team to go on to a much more successful season next year.

SCOOP AND SCORE

The lacrosse team with captains Carolyn Compton and Julia Writh is coached by Mrs. Myers.

1965 has been a trying year for Marple-Newtown's Girls' Lacrosse Team. The team has had a hard time finding a place to practice with the old playing field taken over by the construction of the school addition. Next year should be a more successful season with the completion of the new lacrosse field.

"Cradle high, girls, and run" was an expression heard very frequently during the early spring months. Throughout March and April the lacrosse team practiced faithfully under the direction of their new coach, Mrs. Myers.

Carolyn Compton and Julia Wirth, two capable seniors who have been on the squad for four years, led the girls on to victory and boosted spirits after hard games. At the end of the season, the annual lacrosse party was held. The girls planned this dinner and participated in several skits.

A DIAMOND IS A GIRL'S BEST FRIEND

Under the leadership of Mrs. Egner, the softball team had a highly successful season this past year. This was due to the large number of seniors who returned, and the enthusiasm that the girls held for this sport.

As lacrosse seemed to be a more popular sport, the girls were able to play only three games. These games had to be played away, for we lacked playing fields. The team was also hampered by the fact that Debbie Neal, last year's star pitcher, was unable to play due to injury.

Fran Bonetti bats in practice scrimmage. Barbara Tommasone is the catcher.

COMPETITION

The 1965 basketball intramurals was an example of keen competition right up to the end of the season. The league consisted of eight teams, and the scores were so close that several teams finished in first place. Mr. Miller and Mr. Shores were the sponsors and many times acted as head referees. The season was climaxed by the intramural all-star team playing the J.V. basketball team.

GARDENS"

On a spring evening in May the mysteries of the Orient were revealed to the Junior Class as a Japanese garden. The magnificent setting and the "Serenaders' " lovely music created an exotic atmosphere for the Junior Prom. The most exciting event of the evening was the long-awaited selection of the prom queen.

Although the prom ended at midnight, the post prom was just beginning. A buffet breakfast was served while a combo continued the music. With their lively and carefree style of singing, a hootenanny group entertained the guest.

The prom ended, bringing everyone back to reality once again; no one will forget the wonderful memories of his Junior Prom.

"THE BARRETTS OF

The Junior Class presented its first serious play, The Barretts of Wimpole Street, on April 10 and 11, 1964. The play takes place at the home of Elizabeth Barrett at 50 Wimpole Street, in London, in 1845. Elizabeth has been ill and confined to the house for several years.

Elizabeth had long admired the poems of Robert Browning and had begun a correspondence with him. He soon began asking her to let him come to visit. She politely refused, but he became so persistent that she had to give in. When he arrived, he told her that he felt he already knew her through her verse and had decided that he loved her. This statement slightly overwhelmed Elizabeth, but she could not help being affected by the thought of some excitement after all the dreary years spent at home.

At rehearsal, Henrietta (Judy Gregory) begs her father (Gene Searfoss) to understand her.

With Robert's encouragement, Elizabeth became stronger daily. Soon he announced that he intended to marry her. Elizabeth loved Robert dearly, but she knew her stern father would never permit her to marry.

Robert would not let her refuse. He arranged for them to run away without Mr. Barrett's consent. Elizabeth had serious doubts as to whether she was doing the right thing, but she knew Robert's love had cured her.

The play was a success financially — something new at Marple-Newtown; and theatrically, it was of a caliber that the Class of 1965 can be proud of.

Robert Browning (Paul Jany) and Elizabeth Barrett (Leslie Harwick) rehearse their first meeting.

The long-awaited Senior Prom was held on March 27 at the 1896 House of the Downington Motor Inn. The elegance of the ballroom was complemented by the decorations in the theme of Camelot. A reception line welcomed the guests to the gala social event for the Class of '65. The faculty and several parents were invited to chaperon the prom. Al Raymond and his orchestra provided music for the gracious girls in their gowns to dance with their formally attired escourt. The selection of the prom queen was an exciting highlight of the evening. Nina Schiller was crowned Queen with Pat Rankin, Linda Jones, Mary Lou Alfano, and Chris McIntosh in her court. At one o'clock a.m. the orchestra left, and the breakfast was served. Afterwards a magician entertained the guests with his tricks, and the Charlie Gracie Combo played more music for energetic dancers. Towards daybreak couples started to return home with memories of their Senior Prom to cherish always.

A group of mourners are seen at Emily's funeral.

On December 11 and 12, 1964, the Senior Class presented Our Town by Thorton Wilder. Since the play had an unusually large cast, many members of the Class of 1965 had an opportunity to participate. The action of the play takes place around the turn of the century in Grover's Corners, New Hampshire. The main characters are Emily Webb and George Gibbs, next-door neighbors, friends, and eventually lovers. The play follows the two from childhood through marriage and death. In the funeral scene, Wilder presents his theme. When she reaches the grave, Emily cannot believe she has lost contact with the living world. She longs to go back and is permitted to do so for one day. Upon her return, however, Emily sees the world in a new light. She realizes that people do not appreciate life while they have it. She returns to the grave sadder but wiser, yet leaving an important message for all who wish a meaningful existence.

JUNIORS

Childhood may do without a grand purpose, but mankind cannot.

— J. G. Holland

This year was a busy and exciting one for the Class of '66. Early in the year the class organized a magazine subscription drive, the profits of which were used to support other functions throughout the year. In the spring talented class members worked toward making their play a memorable event. Plans were formulated for the traditional class trip to New York City — an educational as well as entertaining activity. To climax the year the prom was held in May.

These events could not have been possible without the planning done by the Junior Executive Council under the direction of Mr. Milne. The Council met twice a month to make important decisions on behalf of their fellow students: the members selected the class ring and the class play; they conducted the magazine drive; they planned the prom. The members made sure their classmates were satisfied and enabled them to enjoy many extracurricular events. Their main responsibility was to formulate and execute policies and activities in conjunction with the class officers.

JUNIORS IN ACTION

Bruce Ulmer presides over the meeting of the Junior Executive Council.

Junior Class officers (John Saling, George Merker, Donna Ramsdell, Brenda Burg, Bruce Ulmer, and Jerry Slotkin) discuss plans for their prom.

The success of an organization depends upon its leaders. The Junior Executive Council for the Class of '66 has been a successful organization under Bruce Ulmer as President, John Saling as Vice President, Brenda Burg as Secretary, and George Merker as Treasurer.

The president of the Executive Council presides over class meetings in addition to those of the council; he has jurisdiction over all decisions and activities of the Junior Class. The vice president, in addition to conducting meetings in the president's absence, must attend all committee meetings and supervise their activities. The secretary keeps minutes for the class and Executive Council meetings and is in charge of all class correspondence. To enable the Council to arrange various functions throughout the year, the treasurer must maintain an accurate account of the finances of the class.

We can finish nothing in this life; but we may make a beginning, and bequeath a noble example.

GOOD BEGINNING . . . GOOD END

Every high school student looks forward to the time of his Senior year and graduation; but once he has graduated, he looks back longingly and would like to be able to relive his high school days. Our Senior year was one we will never forget — the work, the problems, the anxiety; the fun, the dances, the parties. Every memory will remain with us throughout the years.

The class officers for the Class of 1965 were John Reilly, President; Lynnette Aurelius, Vice President; Nancy Cox, Secretary; John Benner, Treasurer; Eugene Searfoss, Sergeant-at-Arms; Susan Dix, Parliamentarian. The first event of the year was the class play, Our Town; this was presented on December 11 and 12, 1964. Early in the year ambitious class members began planning for the Senior prom which was held on April 3. The last activity of our Senior year was the class trip to Washington, D.C. On June 16, the graduation ceremony marked the culmination of an exciting, eventful year.

The Senior Executive Council, under the supervision of Mr. Capriotti, manages the business affairs of the Senior Class. John Reilly, President, conducts the meetings which are held twice a month. Each English class elects one responsible class member to be the representative to the meetings.

The main function of the Executive Council is to carry out school policies and provide a link between the administration and student body.

This year the Council members took it upon themselves to formulate a constitution which will have lasting value for future classes, as well as our own. It is the responsibility of the Council to select the class play and arrange for its production. The class prom is also arranged by the Council. Each representative serves as a committee chairman for the play and prom; the chairmen manage the financial aspects, decorations, and entertainment.

Gene Searfoss and Vic DiLucas present a report of the Prom Band Selection Committee.

John Reilly and Lynette Aurelius conduct the Council meetings.

The other officers (John Benner, Sue Dix, Eugene Searfoss, and Nancy Cox) assist in leading the class of '65.

Bob Lobb leads a committee meeting of the Council.

Dear Bob,
Best of luck in all you do. Remember our great senior year
Love Kathy

O, that men would only turn to the word of God

THE HOLY BIBLE

"Forever, O Lord, Thy word is settled in heaven."
(PSALM 119:89)

COLUMBUS?

In his day it was thought that the world was flat.

"It is He (God) that sitteth upon the CIRCLE of the earth."

ISAIAH 40:22

The above remarkable reference to the SPHERICITY of the earth was written 3,500 years ago.

Best wishes for a good and Prosperous future. Peg Hayden (Prudential)

DARWIN?

Man never evolved from an ape, nor from a monkey, but was created.

"So God CREATED man in His own image, in the image of God CREATED He him, male and female CREATED He them."

GENESIS 1:27

The verse just before the one above (verse 26) reads this way:

"Let US make man in OUR image." Thus proving the Trinity of God.

"IN THE BEGINNING GOD"

Genesis 1:1

These words are enough to erase any doubt and settle all questions on the subject matter.

"For by Him (Christ) were ALL things created, visible and invisible."

COLOSSIANS 1:16

"All things were made by Him, (Christ) and without Him was not anything made that was made."

JOHN 1:3

"Hath not God made foolish the wisdom of this world?"
1st Corinthians 1:15

CONFESS THIS

"All have sinned and come short of the glory of God."

ROMANS 3:23

BELIEVE THIS

"BUT Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners."

1st TIMOTHY 1:15
